PETERSBOURG, Feb. 7.

GENERAL Baron de Lowendahl, Governor of the Dutchy of Estonia, and Knight of the Order of St. Alexander, arriv'd here a few Days ago from Revel: We are assur'd he has been sent for in order to assist in a grand Council of War which is to be call'd forthwith. As the Affairs betwen this Court and Sweden are not yet adjusted, a Resolution has been taken not to weaken the Garrison of Wybourg, which actually consists of 9000 Men.

The Marquis de Botta, Minister Plenipotentiary from the Queen of Hungary, continues earnestly to demand, that the Court will cause a Body of Troops either to go directly to the Assistance of that Princess, or to make some Diversion in her Favour. The Prussian Minister, on his side, neglects nothing that may engage this Court not to break the Alliance which subsists between it and his Prussian Majesty.

Stockholm, Feb. 12. As the Dyet advance in their Deliberations, we perceive more and more that the Measures taken in the last will be closely follow'd: The greatest Unanimity reigns among the Nobility, and the other orders of the Kingdom appear fully convinced of the Necessity of those Measures. The secret Committee will forthwith make a Report of their Deliberations to the Dyet, after which the States will take a final Resolution, which we expect will be a very remarkable one. Sweden, by the good Order which has been re-establish'd in her Finances, and the Alliance she has made, finds herself in a Condition to give great Weight to her Resolutions. Our Troops have been augmented to 80,000 Men, we can in case of need, reinforce our Army in Finland to 50 or 60,000 Men. The Fleet which consists of 22 Ships of the Line and 10 Frigates is in as good a Condition as can be desired. The Conferences which Mr. Burnab, charged with the British Affairs, has had with Count Gyllenbourg and the other Ministers, only roul'd on the Convention relating to the Affair of Porto Novo.

From the Gentleman's Magazine for March last.

The Remonstrances and Intreaties of the Queen of Hungary, at several Courts, have not produced one Regiment to her Assistance; so that the Prussians go on successfully in Silesia, and have taken Glogaw by Storm. As this was a a desperate Attempt, the following particular Account, by a Prussian Officer, is not to be omitted.

The 7th Instant at Night, Prince Leopold, of Anhalt Dessau, who commanded the Blockade, received Orders from the King to attack the Town, according to a Plan concerted with his Majesty. Next Day the proper Dispositions were made, and about Eight at Night the Troops began to put themselves under Arms, at 10 they reach'd their several Posts a Mile from the Town, and then, with the greatest Order and Silence march'd to the Foot of the Glacis by 12. Immediately the Troops advanced to the Pallisadoes, and leaping over them, threw themselves into the cover'd Way, some small Detachments running to the Right and Left to disarm every Enemy they cou'd find. We were now exposed to, and the Town alarmed by the Enemy's Fire; but this did not prevent our Men from descending into the Ditch, and advancing to the Foot of the Rampart, which was 34 Feet high, with a Slope of 10 Feet, and made very slippery by two Days hard Frost. But these Difficulties we quickly surmounted, and Prince Leopold, with the Margrave Charles, and five or six others, first got to the Top of the Courtine; they were soon followed by a Batallion, and four Companies of Grenadiers, one of which seiz'd a Bastion on the Right, while another did the same on the Left; and with the rest we advanced to the Castle on the Left. We were under a Necessity to break down the Gate behind which the Generals Wallis and Reyski had by this Time posted themselves with their Grenadiers; who, as soon as we made some Holes in it, saluted us with a Shower of Bullets, which killed four Men. But Prince Leopold causing the Fire to be return'd. General Reyski received two Wounds in his Belly, the Grenadiers fled, and General Wallis was obliged to follow them. Then the Gate was laid open, and we passed thro' the Castle into the Town. Two other Attacks were executed with the same Vigour and Dispatch. It is indeed impossible to describe the Consternation of the Enemy, of which the following is a remarkable Instance: Four Grenadiers being the last that came upon the Rampart, missed their Company, and fell in with a Captain and 52 Men of the Garrison; Our Men tho't of retreating, but soon recovering their Spirits, they, like Desperadoes, attack'd them, calling out to them to lay down their Arms. The Enemy being deceived by the Darkness of the Night, and the Panic they were seiz'd with having undoubtedly multiply'd their Foes in their Imaginations, obey'd; and three of our Grenadiers stood Centry over them, while the fourth bro't a Reinforcement.

While the Grenadiers were clearing the Ramparts, the Battalions enter'd the Town by the Avenues the former had made, and all was finish'd an Hour after Midnight. Our Force amounted to only 4 Battalions, and 18 Companies of Grenadiers, and we lost in the Action 2 Commission Officers, 3 Subalterns, and 33 private Men. The Generals Wallis and Reyski, with the Garrison consisting of 1065 Men, including Officers, were all made Prisoners of War, and no Disorder happened, Murder and Plunder being both prohibited.

There was found in the Place 50 Brass Guns, a great Quantity of Powder, and the Military Chest with 32000 Florins. Prince Leopold, and the Margrave Charles, received the Homage of the Nobility and Burghers to his Prussian Majesty, jesty, who was so well pleased with this Expedition, that he immediately declared Prince Leopold General of the Foot, and wrote to him in the following Terms.

My dear Leopold,

I Am vastly obliged to you for the brave and glorious Action you have just performed, which, as I can never forget, will not fail to increase my Friendship for you. Make my Compliments to Margrave Charles. Tell all my brave Officers how I am pleased with them, and that as I shall never forget their gallant Behaviour in this Instance, I shall convince them of my compleat Satisfaction, &c

On the other Hand, the Austrian Hussars have defeated the Prussians in several Skirmishes, who have been obliged to abandon Jablunka for want of Provisions.

Vienna, March 18. The Queen recovers daily, and the young Archduke is in good Health: He weighed the Day he was born 16 Pound 2 Ounces.

Berlin, March 21. Count Wallis taken Prisoner at Glogow, is bro't hither and treated with great Complaisance. The King is very zealous in Rewarding the Officers. The Removal of Count Munich from the Helm at Petersburgh is no agreeable News, because he always promoted the Union of these Courts.

LONDON, March 7.

About 7 in the Evening died, in the 65th Year of his Age, the Right Hon. Humphry Parsons, Esq; Lord Mayor of London, and Member of Parliament for the said City, Aldermen of Portsoken Ward, and President of the Hospitals of Bridewell and Bethlehem. No Lord Mayor has died in his Mayoralty, since Sir John Shorter, who died in 1688.

March 27. On the 23d. Alderman Lambert was chosen Lord Mayor of this City, and Yesterday he went in great State to the Tower attended by the 12 Companies, &c. where, on a Place erected for that Purpose without the Gate, he was sworn in by the Right Hon. the Lord Cornwallis, Constable of the Tower, according to an ancient Custom, when the Barons of the Exchequer are out of Town.

March 31. His Majesty's Ships the Royal George and Royal Sovereign, both First Rates, are equipp'd and lie ready for Service at Black-Stakes, waiting only for a fair Wind to bring them thence that they may take in their Provisions.

April 1. 'Tis said that Sir John Norris will set out next Week for Portsmouth, to go on board the Victory there.

Boston, May 25. By a Letter from London we have an Account that the French Fleet are safe arriv'd in France from St. Lewis, but in so miserable Condition for want of Provisions that the Hospitals are all fitting up to receive them.

Extract of a Letter from Newport, dated May 13.

I have but just Time to acquaint you, that Capt. Davison, in one of our Privateers arriv'd here this Morning, who has taken a French Sloop of about Eighty Tons, which was imploy'd as a Tender to the French Fleet, and had near sixty Men on board, among whom there was three French Officers, which belong'd to the Marines: They had a smart Engagement, and after it was over, they disbarg'd all the Men but the three Officers, which they have brought in with them: They have found several Packets on board the Sloop, by which Means they have found, that the French Fleet had a Design to attack Jamaica and Admiral Vernon's Fleet, but the Scarcity of Provision prevented them. I am inform'd there is a considerable Sum of Money on board.

May 22. On Saturday last, having the joyful and agreeable News of Admiral Vernon's Fleet destroying the Forts and Castles of Carthagena, we had great Rejoicings here by firing of Guns, ringing of Bells, and a great Bonfire, drinking his Majesty's Health, the Royal Family's, Admiral Vernon's, and the General of the Land Forces. The Vessels in the Harbour had their Colours display'd, Fort George fir'd 50 Guns, our Man of War Sloop 77, and Capt. John Browne's Privateer 66, and other Demonstrations of Joy.

NEW-YORK, June 2.

Last Friday Capt. Hubbert arrived here from Jamaica, by whom came a Letter from Jamaica, dated the 28th of April, by which we are informed, that Admiral Vernon and General Wentworth drew up their Army against a strong Castle that stands upon a Hill to defend the Town of Carthagena, on the Land side, with design to storm the same, but were obliged to retreat, having left four or five hundred Men and some Officers; and about 40 or 50 Negroes taken, and some Wounded. That the Army were embark'd on board their Vessels. That the Admiral and General upon viewing the Place, had found a situation where they could encamp and attack with more Advantage. That the Admiral wrote a Letter, and by a Flag of Truce sent into Carthagena to demand his sick and wounded Men, and that the Spanish Governor came out himself to our Admiral and General; he refused to answer their Demand, but assured them, their sick and wounded Men should be as well look'd after as if the Admiral had them under his own Direction. And by a Letter from one of our Officers in Carthagena, to the Admiral and General, they were assured, that all our sick and wounded Men were well look'd after, and lay sweet and clean.

About the 6th of May Capt. Hubbert met Capt. Jenings (who had wrote the above mentioned Letter) at Sea, who---told him, he had spoke with one of our Transports that was returned from Carthagena, which inform'd him, that Carthagena had surrendred, and ransomed the Town for Nine Millions. The next Day Capt. Hubbert met with the same Transport Ships and a Man of War, one of them came aboard him, and told him, that Carthagena had surrendred, and had ransomed the Town for Nine Millions. Capt. Hubburt says, he left Capt. Hill in Jamaica, who was to sail for New York in a few Days after him, by whom we expect a full Account.

Saturday last two Negro Men were burnt here, according to Sentence passed against them by the Supreme Court, for setting Fire to some Houses, and conspiring to burn the Town. At the Place of Execution one of them confessed that he set fire to the Governor's House, the other, that he set fire to Mr. Philip's Warehouse, and that the same Night the whole City was to have been burnt, but a strong Military Watch prevented their Design. A great Number of Negroes are in Goal, not yet come to Trial. A Military Watch is yet continued in this City.

Yesterday the two Sloops that were fitted out here, sailed out of Sandy Hook, in Pursuit of the Spanish Privateers that are on our Coast.
